SUPPORTING CSU 48
To our Alumni and Friends:

As Cleveland State University celebrates 50 years as an institution of higher education serving the people of Cleveland, we also celebrate you — our donors — and your impact on our incredible progress over the years.

It is fitting that this anniversary year also marks the best year ever for our CSU Foundation and its fundraising efforts on behalf of our students and this great institution. You are the reason for this success.

When you give to Cleveland State, you are investing in our students and their future. Your gifts enable us to provide our students with a world-class education, high-quality academic programming, and exceptionally talented and dedicated faculty and staff.

Your support also provides critical scholarships and financial assistance to students who otherwise would not be able to afford a college education. You make the dream of a college education a reality for many young people.

When you give to Cleveland State, you also are investing in the future of our city and region. CSU, with its growing and thriving campus neighborhood, is an anchor for our downtown core and our work is essential to the future economic vitality of Cleveland. You help us educate and prepare the men and women who will serve as the city’s next generation workforce. (See more on CSU’s economic impact on page 9.)

Our theme during this celebratory anniversary year is “Proud Past, Unlimited Future.” Each of you has greatly impacted the past and present of Cleveland State, and your support will be essential as we chart our future course.

Never before has the necessity for private support been more important. It is you who will ensure a truly bright, unlimited future for this University and our students. For that, I am deeply grateful.

Ronald M. Berkman
President, Cleveland State University
A Message from Foundation Leadership

To our Alumni and Friends:

Thank you for making fiscal year 2014 a banner year! Fundraising records were set, with generous donors like you helping the University achieve $20.3 million in new gifts and pledges.

The CSU Foundation, which stewards the gifts that you and others entrust to us, saw its funds under investment grow to $72.3 million, the highest total ever. Our endowment investment portfolio realized an incredibly strong 17.3 percent return for the 12 months ending June 30, 2014. The market value of the endowment was $66.2 million, which surpasses last year’s value of $55.9 million. The outlook for the current fiscal year is positive as well.

Since its founding in 1964, Cleveland State University has grown to be a vibrant urban center in the heart of downtown Cleveland. Tremendous positive change has occurred over 50 years — in the physical campus, the academic program, enrollment, and the University’s leadership role in Northeast Ohio and beyond. We appreciate the role you have played in CSU’s success.

As we look to the next 50 years and beyond, CSU remains committed to providing all students with an excellent education at an affordable price. For that, we need your ongoing support.

Both CSU and the CSU Foundation are thriving, thanks to your engagement. We look forward to your continued partnership and investment in Cleveland State University and its students.

A transformative gift of $10 million from alumnus Don Washkewicz, his wife Pam, and the Parker Hannifin Foundation equals the largest-ever gift in University history and is the largest ever for engineering. In appreciation, CSU renamed the College of Engineering as the Washkewicz College of Engineering.

The gift provides for engineering scholarships as well as major infrastructure improvements to Fenn Hall (formerly Stilwell Hall), home of the engineering program. Improvements will include a Learning Incubator for Undergraduate Education and a Laboratory for Research and Innovation – facilities that will foster an academic environment that promotes innovation, discovery, entrepreneurship, and collaboration with industry.

Washkewicz, who graduated from CSU with a bachelor’s degree in mechanical engineering in 1972, is the chairman, chief executive officer and president of Parker Hannifin Corporation, the Cleveland-headquartered global leader in motion and control technologies.

“Pam and I and the Parker Foundation are pleased to give back to the school that gave me and so many others such a tremendous start. I am honored to have my name associated with the College but even more so I am excited to be investing in the legacy of the future. I am incredibly proud to help enhance the education and lives of future leaders at CSU,” said Washkewicz.
Cleveland State’s Honors Program is now the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel Honors College, thanks to a $3.6 million gift from the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel Foundation and the Mandel Supporting Foundations.

This generous gift funds merit scholarships and the Jack, Joseph and Morton Mandel Chair in Humanities, an endowed position to be held by the dean of the new Honors College. It also provides significant funding to renovate the exterior of the Main Classroom building which houses the Mandel College.

The Mandel Honors College, the ninth college at CSU, enrolls more than 500 students from the highly selective University Honors and University Scholars programs.
continuous, customized support to address the complex needs of these young people and promote their personal development, academic success and degree completion.

Sullivan is the chairman and chief executive officer of RPM International; his wife serves on the board of directors for Fill This House, an organization that provides household goods to newly emancipated young adults. Jenniffer Deckard is the chief executive officer of Fairmount Santrol; her husband is general manager of Black Lab, LLC, a Fairmount subsidiary.

The Sullivan/Deckard Opportunity Scholarship Program – established with a combined $2.3 million gift from Frank and Barbara Sullivan and Jenniffer and Daryl Deckard – provides assistance for high school seniors who are aging out of foster care and wish to pursue a college degree.

This population faces extreme challenges when they abruptly transition from dependence on the foster care system to total independence as emancipated adults. Few enroll in college; even fewer earn degrees. The Sullivan/Deckard Opportunity Scholarship will provide

Lee Glasscock graduated in 1991 with a bachelor’s degree in psychology. Larry Glasscock graduated in 1970 with a bachelor’s degree in business and enjoyed a career of 40-plus years in the banking and health insurance industries, retiring as CEO of Wellpoint Inc. in 2007. He is a former member of the CSU Foundation Board of Directors and former president of the CSU Alumni Association Board of Directors. In 1987, he was named a member of the President’s Club, the highest recognition level among CSU donors.

CSU’s Student Center Ballroom was renamed The Glasscock Family Foundation Ballroom in recognition of the family’s generosity.

Alumni Lee and Larry Glasscock and The Glasscock Family Foundation pledged $1 million to fund full-tuition scholarships, including room and board, for first-generation college students at the Monte Ahuja College of Business.

The Indianapolis couple credit CSU for impacting their personal and professional lives, and say they feel fortunate to be able to give back to the school that helped them get started. By funding a scholarship that includes room and board they hope to provide students with “the full college experience.”
CSU will be the only school in the Horizon League to have an on-campus, indoor tennis facility, which will provide a competitive edge for the varsity teams and boost the recruitment of top local, national and international tennis prospects. The upgraded tennis courts also will be the only indoor facility of its kind in downtown Cleveland.

A $1.4 million gift from Medical Mutual of Ohio will enable CSU to create an all-season tennis facility for use by the men’s and women’s varsity tennis teams, the University community and the public. CSU will transform its six existing tennis courts by installing a new, permanent dome, along with mechanical systems to provide heat, air and insulation for year-round play. The new facility will be named the Medical Mutual Tennis Pavilion.
As Cleveland State University celebrates its 50th anniversary, it also celebrates a banner year for fundraising by the CSU Foundation. Thanks to everyone who helped us achieve this milestone. Your support for Cleveland State University and its students is greatly appreciated.

For the first time in the University’s history, the Foundation raised $20.3 million in new gifts and pledges, surpassing the 2005 high of $14.8 million.

Foundation funds under investment reached an all-time high — $72.3 million — thanks to generous gifts and prudent financial counsel. This is a 17.3 percent increase over funds under investment last year.

Donor numbers reached a five-year high. Total number of donors was 7,044, with alumni donors totaling 5,034 – a six percent increase.

Radiance: CSU Realizing the Promise set records for amount raised for scholarships – over $1 million – and number of donors – 335. Since its inception in 2011, Radiance has generated more than $2.6 million to fund scholarships for 974 CSU students in good academic standing who were at risk for dropping out of school because of financial issues.

A total of $10.4 million was raised for scholarships, with 20 new endowed scholarships created.

CSU’s first-ever online Giving Day raised $23,500 in just 24 hours. More than 270 alumni and friends participated with support for scholarships, research, engaged learning and more.

CSU’s annual Faculty and Staff Campaign raised $323,416 from 625 donors, a 29 percent increase over last year.
When you support Cleveland State University, you are helping to provide the Northeast Ohio workforce with talented graduates. The vast majority of CSU alumni remain in Northeast Ohio, boosting the local economy. And the University itself provides a significant boost to the Northeast Ohio economy.

The Economic Impact of Cleveland State University quantifies the economic impact from spending by the University, students and visitors to CSU during the 2013-2014 academic year. The report was authored by Candi Clouse, Ziona Austrian and Serena Alexander in the Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs’ Center for Economic Development.

“Since our founding 50 years ago Cleveland State has proven to be a strong investment for both students and the state of Ohio. The University generates significant returns for Northeast Ohio through career preparation for students as well as by providing well-paying jobs and by purchasing local services,” said President Ronald M. Berkman.

Radiance

CSU classes are first held in quonset huts.
It was a banner year for Radiance: CSU Realizing the Promise, the University’s signature event in support of student scholarships. The fourth-annual Radiance was the most successful to date, setting records for amount raised for scholarships – over $1 million – and number of donors – 335.

“These scholarships are more than just dollars,” said President Ronald M. Berkman. “They are truly life-changing and allow students to achieve their goal of graduating from college.”

Since its inception, Radiance has generated more than $2.6 million to fund scholarships for 974 CSU students in good academic standing who were at risk for dropping out of school because of financial issues.

This year’s Radiance was held in the Student Center’s Glasscock Family Foundation Ballroom, newly named in honor of alumni Lee and Larry Glasscock. A generous gift from the couple and the Glasscock Family Foundation is funding full-tuition scholarships, including room and board, for first-generation college students at CSU’s Monte Ahuja College of Business. (See page 6.)

As part of the festivities, President Berkman awarded the President’s Medal, the University’s most prestigious nonacademic honor, to Eric Gordon, chief executive officer of the Cleveland Metropolitan School District. The CSU/CMSD partnership includes Campus International School and MC²STEM High School, both located on the CSU campus.

A first-generation American who did not speak English until she attended school, Damaris is the first in her family to attend college – a dream she did not pursue until her two children were in high school.

After earning an associate’s degree from Cuyahoga Community College, she transferred to CSU and is majoring in early childhood education with the goal of becoming a teacher in the Cleveland Metropolitan School District.

Damaris holds CSU’s Radiance Scholarship, as well as awards from the College of Education and Human Services. She is involved in community volunteer opportunities through CSU’s TRIO program and will graduate in May 2015.
Donors who have the foresight to include Cleveland State University in their planned or estate gifts are recognized through membership in the Legacy Society. Thank you to the following Legacy Society members whose gifts were realized in fiscal year 2014.

EILEEN C. CORTES

Eileen Cortes, a long-time supporter of the University, passed away in December 2012. In 1993, she created a scholarship fund in honor of her late husband, Carlos Cortes, now named the Carlos F. and Eileen C. Cortes Scholarship Fund. The fund provides scholarship and fellowship support to students specializing in school psychology. She and her late husband both worked for the Cleveland Metropolitan Schools – she as a teacher and he as a school psychologist. This gift continues their legacy of making a difference in the lives of young people.

THOMAS J. GRAY, SR., JD ’41

Thomas Gray created the Thomas J. Gray, Sr. Endowed Scholarship through his trust. The gift provides scholarship support for students specializing in community service. As a lifelong member of the Boy Scouts of America, Mr. Gray was passionate about providing opportunities for young people to develop their leadership skills and pursue their educational goals. He passed away in January 2014. With this gift, his legacy will benefit future generations of legal professionals.

MARVIN H. JONES

Marvin Jones, an Art Department faculty member who passed away in February 2005, taught Studio Art from 1976 through 2004. He retired as Professor Emeritus. His work appeared in over 550 group exhibitions and is included in more than 40 public collections in the United States, Canada, Europe and Japan. The generous gift of 63 pieces of Professor Jones’ work will be exhibited at the Galleries at CSU and made available for use by the Art Department in its curriculum, particularly Studio Art courses.

ROBERT S. MALAGA

Known as “Mister Tennis” for putting Cleveland on the tennis map worldwide, Robert Malaga coached Cleveland State’s men and women’s teams in the 1980s and was a strong supporter of CSU’s tennis program. A judge on both the Cleveland Municipal Court and the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court, as well as a director of the Ohio Lottery in the 1970s, Mr. Malaga passed away in July 2012. A gift from his trust supports scholarships through the Robert S. Malaga Endowment Fund.

FREDERICK H. RAY, BSE ’49

Frederick Ray’s bequest was made in memory of his late wife Dorothy (Mainey) Ray, a fellow engineer who studied at Purdue University and whom he met in Cleveland. The Ray gift will support the planned renovation of Fenn Hall, home of the Washkewicz College of Engineering. This very generous gift illustrates the enduring legacy of the College and will add significant momentum to the creation of a state-of-the-art engineering learning environment. As a student, Mr. Ray was an active member of the Iota Eta, Alpha Chi and Phi Epsilon Nu fraternities. He also served as president of the Fenn Society of Structural Engineers and on The Cauldron student newspaper staff. He passed away in April 2013 at the age of 91.

A $250,000 gift from donors who wish to remain anonymous funds the new Center for Population Dynamics in the Maxine Goodman Levin College of Urban Affairs.

Groundbreaking research conducted by Center director Richey Piiparinen and his team is examining how influxes of new people and new ideas can help cities compete in the global economy and promote quality of life.

The donors, who are strong civic boosters, believe that research on how migration reinvigorates cities will benefit the economic development of Cleveland and other cities.
Students who comprise the first class of Deckard Family Civic Fellows are supplementing their classroom studies and experiencing public service firsthand through community engagement opportunities with the City of Cleveland. A portion of a $100,000 gift from Jenniffer and Daryl Deckard funds the Deckard Family Civic Fellows Scholarship. The scholarship encourages service learning, provides students with opportunities to engage in activities that address Northeast Ohio’s urban challenges, and supports the development of the next generation of civic and community leaders. The fund provides scholarships for juniors and seniors who have been directly involved in engagement opportunities provided by the University and face significant financial obstacles while striving to receive their degrees.

A portion of the Deckard gift also supports renovations to the Athletics Family Room in the Wolstein Center.
The Cleveland State University Foundation gratefully acknowledges generous gifts and pledge payments of $1,000 and more during the period July 1, 2013 – June 30, 2014.

Volunteer Leadership

Thank you to the following individuals who volunteer their time, talent and service as members of Cleveland State University’s Board of Trustees, Foundation Board of Directors, Alumni Association Board of Directors and Visiting Committees. Your commitment to CSU and its students is greatly appreciated.
Tyler is proud to be the first recipient of the Glasscock Family Foundation Scholarship, funded by CSU alumni Lee and Larry Glasscock and their family. A product of Cleveland's Slavic Village and St. Ignatius High School, he is majoring in business administration with the goal of attending law school and becoming a corporate lawyer.

When he's not hitting the books, Tyler participates in the business mentoring program and the baseball club. He will graduate in May 2018 and knows his future is bright because of his CSU education and engaged learning experience.
Presidential Donor Recognition Societies
The Cleveland State University Foundation gratefully acknowledges the following donors for their cumulative giving to the University (as of June 30, 2014) and welcomes them as members of our Presidential Donor Recognition Societies.

Growing up Nigeria, Sam dreamed of coming to the United States for college. In 2012, his dream came true when he was accepted to CSU’s Washkewicz College of Engineering. He packed his bags, said good-bye to his family and headed to a country he did not know to major in chemical engineering.

Scholarships from the Washkewicz College of Engineering, the LINK program and the Career Success Network enabled Sam to get fully immersed in campus life. He has been a Student Government Association senator, a Presidential Student Ambassador, and a Student Alumni Association board member, and is currently president of the National Society of Black Engineers. He will graduate in May 2017 and hopes to pursue a master’s degree.
