

The Graduate Student Resource Center (GSRC) serves Cleveland State University graduate students in the acquisition of new tools and skill sets to enhance professional development and career opportunities. The Center delivers programming and workshops to enhance student success, professional development, career readiness, and to promote community-engagement.

The GSRC publishes the College of Graduate Studies monthly e-newsletter, Graduate Student News. The main purpose of the newsletter is to highlight outstanding accomplishments of students, faculty, and alumni; introduce new graduate programs and new student services; and publicize upcoming events of relevance to graduate students and graduate education.

GSRC services are provided, free of charge by the College of Graduate Studies, in partnership with CSU Academic Departments/Offices and partners in the greater community.
