

WHAT IS THE UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM?

The Honors Program at Cleveland State University offers a challenging program designed to meet the needs of academically talented students interested in attending an urban university. Students enjoy the benefits of being in a large, diverse, comprehensive University located in a dynamic urban center, while at the same time receiving the personalized attention, small class sizes, and opportunities for undergraduate research and creativity typical of smaller schools. Students graduating with Honors from CSU typically go on to graduate study and professional careers.

WHO ARE THE STUDENTS?

Honors students at CSU come from the top 10 percent of their high school classes and/or scored in the top 10 percent on the ACT or SAT.

Many are from Northeast Ohio, but Honors students come from many other states and a variety of other countries, including Canada, Germany, India, China, Nigeria and Somalia.

Honors students pursue virtually every major offered at CSU. They have engaged in a wide variety of undergraduate research projects and creative activities.

Beyond their academic achievements, Honors students engage in numerous activities, both on and off campus. They are student-athletes, they volunteer in the community and around the country, they study abroad, they complete internships in businesses, schools, engineering companies, and nonprofit organizations, and they are active in the life of the CSU campus.
