

Alumni Network

Transform. Empower. Inspire.

The Education Policy Fellowship Program's mission is to develop a diverse and collaborative community of strategic leaders for effective public policy.

EPFP's Three Pillars

Fellows learn about specific policy issues, policymaking and implementation processes, the interface of local, state, and national policies, and the practices effective leaders use to function in the policy environment.

Fellows develop familiarity with different types of leadership, become aware of their potential as leaders, and learn from interactions with proven leaders.

Fellows learn to establish action-oriented and mutually beneficial relationships with colleagues; expand their range of strategies for using power and influence; and build and sustain a larger, more diverse range of professional contacts.

We have 8,500 alumni in all 50 states, including:

What Alumni Say About Their EPFP Experience

"It was great being in the company of the people who made decisions that impacted my work and learning more about the process behind those decisions. From the very first session, I felt empowered."

-James Ford (NC EPFP 14-15), 2014 North Carolina Teacher of the Year

"To meet people who were older than me and who worked in similar ways in different spaces was really eye opening and a confidence builder... I still remember my experiences as a Fellow and have sponsored a few employees from organization I have worked at to be EPFP fellows as well."

-Kent McGuire (CO EPFP 80-81) President and CEO, Southern Education Foundation

"EPFP was the single most effective professional development I've done. What it did for me personally pales compared to what it did professionally!"

-Noelle Ellerson (DC EPFP 09-10), Associate Executive Director, Policy & Advocacy, AASA
