Changes in Transfer Credit policy, below is the current and proposed (now approved) language:

Current catalog text: “All credits requested for transfer must carry a letter grade of A, A-, B+, or B in graduate courses. No S/F graded courses may be transferred. Petitions are not considered for an exemption from this requirement.”

Proposed catalog text: “Normally, credits requested for transfer must carry a letter grade of A, A-, B+, or B in graduate courses. Generally, S/F graded courses may not be transferred. Programs may petition the Graduate Dean for an exemption from this requirement in cases where the courses being transferred are normally graded S/F.”

III. Report of the Senate President

Senate President Kumar reminded Senators that the college elections of Senators for 2023-2025 should happen soon; the incoming Faculty Senate is responsible for electing officers of the Senate.

The Senate President asked that colleges hold elections for new senators as soon as possible, and referenced the following FPP bylaw for colleges that may be electing additional senators:

3344-13-02 (B) (2): “Representatives shall serve two-year terms and not more than three terms consecutively. In the first year’s election, half the representatives from each college shall serve only a one-year term. Those receiving the larger number of votes will in the initial election serve two years. The initial one-year term shall count as one of the three consecutive terms for which a representative may serve.”

Notice of the faculty committee preference survey will be sent out soon; faculty are encouraged to participate and inform your colleagues that the survey will be available.

A new ad hoc committee on the Student Evaluation Instrument is being formed and is included on the faculty committee preference survey. The committee will report to UFAC. If faculty have skills or knowledge in this area (evaluation), please consider volunteering.

IV. Report of the President of CSU

President Bloomberg has been traveling and meeting with donors and alumni; she reported that alumni have fond memories and spoke about the great professors at CSU—faculty make an enormous impact that is often remembered decades later.

She recognized several faculty members who were recently successful in securing large grants and other national recognitions: Dr. Junior Gonzalez (Chemistry) and Dr. Jackson Taylor (Biology)—first ever R00 grants from NIH to CSU; Dr. Candice Van Der Weerd (Management) and Dr. Patty Stoddard-Dare (Social Work)—Nationally-recognized articles on effects of paid sick leave on U.S. businesses; Dr. Samantha Baskind (Art)—curator of Beyond Borders: The Art of Siona Benjamin; among others.

President Bloomberg reported that the evening prior to University Board of Trustees meetings, she is hosting small parlor discussions with invited CSU faculty and trustees. This helps the trustees to better understand some of the work being done at CSU.

President Bloomberg recognized the work of faculty with student engagement efforts and other supportive actions. She understands that it’s a difficult time for our students.

She reported that Governor DeWine has appointed P. Kelly Tompkins to the Board of Trustees for a nine-year term; Mr. Tompkins is an alumnus of the College of Law and has served as a Leader-in-Residence there. The Governor has submitted a proposed budget for the State, and while the budget is not yet approved, there are items included that would benefit the University.

President Bloomberg recognized both women’s and men’s basketball for their successful seasons; both teams will play in the Horizon League Championship. She acknowledge that our student-athletes are also succeeding in the classroom and thanked faculty for their efforts.

An end of year celebration is being planned for Faculty Senate and will be hosted by the President and Provost.
