Howley Scholars Program

An innovative new partnership with between Cleveland State University and the Howley Foundation will allow students from select Northeast Ohio high schools to successfully pursue and complete a college degree.

The Howley Scholars Program participants receive a number of benefits including:

- All Scholars will receive attractive financial aid packages, including $5,500 in annual support from the Howley Foundation and matching $5,500 scholarship from Cleveland State University.
- All Scholars will receive support from an alumni coordinator from their high school, who will provide guidance on course selection and other academic support.
- All Scholars will live on campus in University provided housing.
- All Scholars will participate in CSU's Graduation Coaching Program, including regular meetings between coaches and students to provide mentorship and advising support, college readiness wrap-around services, and organization & time management skills.
- All Scholars will participate in CSU's Summer Transition Enrichment Program (STEP) that helps students transition to college by preparing them for college-level coursework or simply get a head start on their studies
